State investigating election allegations

Walker out, new city election being set

By DEAN JONES
Herald-Observer Editor

BELLE GLADE — The city commission was to hold a special meeting at 7 p.m. tonight to discuss a special election to replace Commissioner Dorothy Walker, ousted from her seat Tuesday by a judge's order.

The special meeting was suggested by City Attorney John Baker in the wake of an order by Circuit Judge William Williams that declared the Sept. 11 city election in the East Borough null and void and directed the city to hold a special election as soon as practical.

Judge Williams issued the order on the basis that Miss Walker isn't a bona fide resident of the East Borough. She won the right to represent that borough by defeating incumbent Kenneth Harris, who filed suit a week after the election, charging Miss Walker with nine violations of the election code, eight of them dealing with campaign donations and reports.

In the meantime, the charges are apparently being investigated by the State Elections Commission, which could take action independent of Judge Williams at a later date.

State Attorney David Bludworth said Wednesday that when the suit was first filed on Sept. 17, Harris' attorney, Jack Scarola, also filed a complaint with his office.

"She had been working for me though," Bludworth said, "and I couldn't take any action." He said he disqualified his office and referred the complaint to Governor Bob Graham's office.

A spokesman for the Governor's legal office said the investigation had been turned over to the State Elections Commission.

Dorothy W. Glisson, State Supervisor of Elections, said Florida law prohibits discussion of ongoing investigations or even the confirmation that an investigation is underway. She said she could make no comment.

Generally however, she said that if an investigation is conducted and the commission decides violations of the election code have occurred, action could range from a fine imposed by the commission to referring the case to court for criminal trial.

Among the charges filed by Harris are some third degree felony charges. Miss Walker is a third year law student at the University of Miami and, should she be convicted on any of those, the convictions could bar her from practicing law in the state.

City Attorney John Baker noted, however, that it is much easier for a judge to rule an election null and void than to rule there was criminal intent.

Harris commented Tuesday afternoon, when he learned of the ruling, that he understood felony convictions could stop Miss Walker from practicing law and he was concerned about that.

Harris said he would definitely run again when the election is set up.

"I kinda feel I let the people down," Harris said. "I'm concerned about what would happen with her (Miss Walker's) qualifications. I feel obligated to run when they set it up."

Mayor Ralph Kirk said Wednesday night the special meeting tonight was set up during a conference telephone call between himself, City Manager Robert Sanders and John Baker.

Kirk had said Tuesday night he was inclined to take no action until the commissioners' next regular meeting on

STATE OFFICIALS GATHER AT PAHOKEE STATE PARK
... to explore solutions for erosion there.

Landrum views park damage

The head of the Department of Natural Resources came to Pahokee Wednesday to see damage caused by wave action at Pahokee State Park and to hint that something is in the wind that could restore the facility.

Nae Landrum, director of the Department, along with Rep. Tom Lewis, Rep. Jim Watt, Rep. Gene Campbell and aides representing Sen. Don Childers and Senate president Phil Lewis met with a contingent of local residents led by Mayor Duncan Padgett.

After viewing the park, Landrum met with the group in the city hall and assured them the DNR is not abandoning the facility.

"We are aware of the problem," he said, "and we are working to solve it." He noted the main problem facing the park is wave erosion of the campsites, 40 of which have been destroyed this year.

The raised level of Lake Okechobee is the condition that created the problem, said Landrum, and the simplest solution would simply be to lower the lake level.

However, he told the group, this "cannot be done as the Corps of Engineers feels the high level is necessary for the water needs of South Florida."

"What we have," he said, "is one agency doing what it thinks best at the expense of another agency doing what it thinks best.

We have to have priorities."

Landrum said his agency is working closely with the Corps and the South Florida Water Management District in resolving the problem. The first step is to obtain technical information on what is needed to save the park and Landrum believes a new Corps study will show about $30 million in work is necessary to prevent problems lake-wide because of the new water levels.

Landrum hinted that if the solution to the State Park problem were in the area of a "few hundred thousand dollars" it would be reasonable to expect the problem could be solved.

However, if an expenditure of several millions is called for, all hope is not lost, he said. It could be that federal, state and DNR funds could be pooled to save the park. Mayor Padgett asked one of the most penetrating questions of the DNR head. "I've been here 65 years," said the veteran official, "and I don't expect the park to last through this winter. If the park washes away, will the DNR restore it?"

Landrum's reply was that in an eventuality of this nature, the DNR would be forced to evaluate the overall question.

He said the major problem now is to "hold the line" and not allow more campsites to be lost or the restrooms to wash into the lake.

Black reaction is heated

By ALMA HENRY

BELLE GLADE — Dorothy Walker, black, female, third year law student at the University of Miami, made history Sept. 11 when she was elected the first woman city commissioner for the City of Belle Glade, and the first black to represent the East Borough. On Tuesday, approximately three months later, Circuit Court Judge W. C. Williams, III turned back the pages of history and erased Miss Walker's accomplishment, when he declared the Sept. 11 election in the East Borough "null and void."

When news hit the streets that Miss Walker's victory was no victory, all sorts of sentiments were expressed. Elmore Williams, of 556

S.W. 13, a supporter of Miss Walker, said "We will fight it. Belle Glade might as well get ready for a revolution, Dorothy won the election, and now it has been taken from her."

Larry Johnson, one of the city's many disenchanted youths, said, "Every time black folks run and win, they always take it back. I remember when Jerry Roberts won when I was a kid. We were all so happy. Then I remember the next day, when everybody was saying Jerry had lost the race. I don't think it's fair, why run?"

James Allen, and Gail Stanley, campaign workers for Miss Walker, both agreed she should appeal Judge Williams' see Reaction 6A

Glades Central student wins Bausch and Lomb science award

BELLE GLADE—Glades Central Community High School senior David Keith Reece was named winner of the annual Bausch and Lomb Science Award Friday, making him eligible for one of the optics corporation's annual scholarships.

Reece, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Reece of 500 Orange Ave. Circle, was presented the bronze medal by Dr. Effie C. Grear, GCHS principal, and Jeffrey B. Given, chairman of the science department at the school. "Keith was selected," Given said, "on the basis of his high grade point average (3.8) and for the advanced science courses he's taken, such as trigonometry, chemistry and physics."

"The Bausch and Lomb Science Award is especially significant," Dr. Grear said, "because it recognizes the senior student at our school who has attained the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

As winner of the award, Reece is eligible to compete for one of several four-year Bausch and Lomb Science Scholarships at the University of Rochester, N.Y., home of Bausch and Lomb.

Scholarship winners are selected on merit and stipends, based on need, could range up to $4,500 per year. Surveys indicate the award has encouraged more than 30 percent of the winners to follow scientific careers.

Bausch and Lomb is a world-wide manufacturer of vision care products and scientific instruments.

The influence...of Jesus, the Christ

On Christmas we celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. We are not sure He was born on Dec. 25, but that is not the important thing. The important thing is that we, as people, believe in Christ and God and celebrate as a means of believing in them and their love.

Jesus came into the world at God's appointed time. During his short sojourn on earth Jesus fulfilled God's appointments.

He did not travel throughout the then-known world. He only crossed the boundary of the country in which He lived once. He neither had wealth nor influence.

He had little training or education. His relatives were inconspicuous and uninfluential. Nothing in His background would indicate that He was to be the greatest leader the world was to know.

When He was a baby He startled a king. As a child He puzzled the doctors. As a man He commanded the very course of nature. In His way through life He healed multitudes without medicine and never charged for His service.

No leader the world has ever known has more volunteers. He did this without drafting a single person.

His force affected the world of commerce as no other has ever done. Even today many of the wheels of business stop in His honor every seventh day.

Time has spread almost 2,000 years between the people who watched His crucifixion and our generation, but He still lives.

Herod could not kill Him. Satan could not defeat Him. Death could not destroy Him. The grave could not hold Him.

Even today, in a time of growing Godlessness, for millions and millions He stands forth upon the highest pinnacle of heavenly glory, proclaimed of God, acknowledged by angels, adorned by saints, feared by the devil, as the living personal Christ, our Lord and Savior.

When Jesus preached and healed He kept the finest tradition of courtesy: hospitality, honor and dignity. He spoke with compassion, not with defiance.

During his life on earth He paid taxes. He kept the Mosaic law even though He was soon to give that law a different meaning than before His time.

Jesus revealed salvation by preaching that man is not made holy by faith alone or by good works but through the grace of God. This grace of God can only be discovered through faith and demonstrated by good works.

He did not organize mass marches of his followers to go to a place and demand social reformation or change to his beliefs. He did not lead demonstrations to demand reparations for the poor or the oppressed.

Jesus did not persuade His most devoted followers to lie down across the road, blocking the camel caravans taking riches to Rome. He did not invade the military headquarters of the Roman soldiers to destroy records.

Not once did He stand on street corners and demand that the rulers give His followers their civil rights or welfare benefits.

Jesus served God quietly and with dignity and so did his followers. To be effective the true followers of Christ today must do the same.

Jesus' first concern was not for length of hair, the kind of clothes, the life style but for the spiritual salvation of the soul.

This is the religious leader we honor on Christmas. Let us follow Him in love.

Private enterprise may save $

While some municipal government agencies are wrestling with the continual inflation costs of operation, others are seeing fit to seek financial assistance by seeking services from private enterprise.

Strange things are happening in Gainesville, Fla. Complaints about the city's garbage collection service have dwindled away. City vehicles are running better and spending less time in the shop. The city hall is a cleaner and neater place. And Gainesville has accomplished all this by spending less, not more, on those items in the city budget.

The Gainesville miracle involves no magic. That city of 85,000 is letting private contractors handle trash pick-up, vehicle maintenance and custodial services, and is getting better results at a savings of about $500,000 a year.

Gainesville emerged as a prime example in a New York Times survey of a minor revolution in American government — the growing use of private contractors to provide public services. The Times found that the trend is generating a lot of controversy, but may be the wave of the future when tax and spending limitations of the Proposition 13 variety are hitting government agencies.

The pressure to put more government services out to bid in search of economies can be expected to rise in California. Proposition 13 is on the books, the spending limitations of Proposition 4 were just enacted, and another initiative aimed at cutting state taxes is heading for the June, 1980, ballot.

Recommendations that California adopt more position policies toward the contracting-out of government services have been made within the past year by the Post Commission, which studied ways of dealing with Proposition 13, and the Little Hoover Commission, which pursues ways to improve efficiency in government.

Private firms and organizations must be competitive in the quality of their services. As contractors, they have more administrative flexibility than the civil service system allows in government agencies, and their work force is not covered by some of the overblown salary and fringe benefit costs that diminish the productivity of public employees as a whole.

The challenge to elected officials is to take advantage of opportunities for switching to contracted services without stumbling into obvious traps. Contracts must not become a reward for political support. The anticipated economies and improved service may never materialize without great care in the selection of contractors and monitoring of their performance. Government must remain accountable for its services even if it does not perform them directly.

The practical problems may be less formidable than the political ones. Resistance to private contracts can be expected from within the bureaucracy, where such a policy can wipe out entire departments and their payrolls. The sharpest criticism of the whole idea comes, to no one's surprise, from public employee unions.

Scottsdale, Ariz., decided several years ago to turn its fire department over to a private firm. Scottsdale hasn't burned down, and taxpayers there can see the benefit on their tax bills. The success of that innovation in providing one of the most basic local services sends shivers through city halls everywhere, and well it should.

It might be well for lake area city and county government agencies to take a closer look at private enterprise though every effort must be made not to sacrifice quality.

Nose count

Next year's decennial census questionnaire will make no reference to the question of a family's legal residency status.

And it is unlikely that any illegal alien would confess on an unofficial document to a deportable offense, anyway.

Thus the objections of the Federation for American Immigration Reform to the avowed intent of the Census Bureau to mount a campaign to include the undocumented residents are understandable. Congressional districts and federal funds are allocated on the basis of population. The FAIR organization has filed suit in Washington challenging the constitutionality of counting the illegal residents.

There may be good reasons for seeking a nose count that includes all residents regardless of their legal standing, but intrusion of "one-man, no-vote" population figures on "one-man, one-vote" reapportionment goals is disturbing.

Estimates of the number of illegal aliens in the United States range from 4 million to as high as 20 million. Unless the Census Bureau intends to firm up the figures and pinpoint their location, it should drop its "recruitment" drive as a pointless effort.

A PERIOD OF REFLECTION . . .

Christmas means many things, in many ways, to many people.

At our home it is time of gaiety in spirit and in decoration. It is a time when Miss Betty and I look forward to Donna and Kathy coming home and the pleasant hours of togetherness. The exchanging of gifts as mementoes of love and affection. The recollections of friendships collected over the years and more importantly, the appreciation of these friendships that we seldom evaluate and recognize.

It is a time of appreciation for the pleasant association of fellow employees and associations in the communities which make our vocation so enjoyable.

It is a time to reflect upon the many miracles of the world and the ONE LIFE the world revolves around . . .

He was born in an obscure village, where he worked in a carpenter shop until he was 30. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never had a family or owned a house. He didn't go to college. He never visited a big city. He never traveled 200 miles from the place where he was born.

He did none of the things one usually associates with greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

He was only 33 when the tide of public opinion turned against Him. His friends ran away. He was turned over to His enemies and went through the mockery of a trial.

He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. While He was dying His executioners gambled for His clothing, the only property He had on earth. When He was dead He was laid in a borrowed grave through — the pity of a friend.

Nineteen centuries have come and gone, and today He is the central figure of the human race and the leader of mankind's progress.

All the armies that ever marched, all the navies that ever sailed, all the parliaments that ever sat, all the kings that ever reigned, put together, have not affected the life of man on this earth as much as that — ONE SOLITARY LIFE.

A very sincere wish of a happy holiday season for you and your loved ones from The Stalls.

Kerry Faunce

With only six more days before Christmas, holiday spirit is growing. Christmas light twinkle from lamp posts, Christmas trees and images of Santa Claus adorn homes and shops, artificial snow frosts windows as South Florida folk abandon any hope of the real stuff.

It may seem odd to our northern neighbors that the Christmas spirit can thrive in a tropical climate. Did not the late Bing Crosby immortalize the "White Christmas"?

And how many parents can remember comforting their little ones that Santa will somehow make it to their house even though there is no snow on which to ride or chimney down which to slide?

Equally scarce are chestnuts roasting on the open fire, boughs of holly, wind nipped noses and frobbotten toes.

So where is Christmas?

Just look around. It's in the warmth and feeling of good will that abounds in all but the toughest Scrooges during the Christmas season. It's in the universal celebration of the birth of Christ.

Have a Merry Christmas.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

If nothing else, I was able Friday night to add to the popular list making the rounds nowadays about, "You know it's going to be a bad night when you drive 25 miles to the state championship football game, find the local Sheriff's posse parking cars from horseback and you park, open the door and step into one of the horses' calling cards."

I was one of the few people who were around but didn't make that long trip when Glades Central went to play for the state championship at Milton in 1972.

Granted, the 225 mile trip to Ocala wasn't far as it was to Milton but the trip back was longer. If I hadn't seen it with my own eyes, I don't think I would've believed it. A high school team score 35 points on the Raiders? No way. Impossible!

But it happened. Things started out bad enough earlier in the week, even if I wasn't aware of it yet, when I got the idea in my mind from somewhere that Milton's team was called the Cowboys.

Now I didn't just think that's what they were called. I knew it. Didn't even bother to check when I called the Milton coach and the editor of the local newspaper last Monday.

Turned out that was about the only bad information I had after making those two phone calls though. Coach Hurley Manning said they didn't play fancy ball; just rammed it down the opponents' throats and made 'em like it.

"Oh yeah," I thought. "You've been playing too many doormats." Mr. Manning. There ain't nobody going to ram that ball down the collective throats of the Glades Central interior line.

And Joe Johns, who's covered the Black Panthers all year for the Milton Press-Gazette, said that if any of the Raiders had play both ways (the entire line does), the Milton line would wear 'em down.

That didn't bother me too much either. What the heck, I'd seen the Raider line playing both ways all season against some pretty good teams without breathing hard at the end of the game. That feeling was reinforced Thursday when the entire Raider line was named to either the first or second All-Area Team.

Well, the Milton line was as good as Johns said it was. They were at least as good in the first half and better in the second half than the Raiders, who were tired before the third quarter was over.

And the Milton running backs rammed it down the Raider throats, and if they didn't make them like it, it didn't matter because they just kept on ramming.

It wasn't that I thought the Raiders were unbeatable. No team is unbeatable. It's just that I didn't think there was a team in the state that could consistently gain ground throughout the game against the Glades Central line.

You can't argue about the outcome of the game, though, when the other team piles up 296 yards in rushing and goes to the air only twice (their fourth and fifth times during the four playoff games), connects once and that's for a 22-yard touchdown play.

The only concession the Raider line was able to wring from the Panthers was that for the first three quarters, they were forced to go around end on a number of runs. After that, it was between the tackles.

And for just about the entire fourth quarter, the whole Raider sideline crowd, coaches and players, were ominously quiet. They'd yelled encouragement and made adjustments throughout the early part of the game but by the start of the final period, it was all over. There was nothing anybody could say or do about it.

And that may have been the hardest morsel to swallow.

BOILER PLATE

BY JIM JONES

"Is there a real Jimmy Carter?" Christine, my five year old daughter, asked me several weeks ago. My wife and Paul Puletti were in the same room when this profound question was asked. They heard it too.

It used to be that kids asked easy questions, like, "Is there really a Santa Claus?" "People may not have become any more complex in the last millennium, but the times have."

And kids have responded, by learning at an early age who Jimmy Carter is, along with Captain Marvel and Wonder Woman. Hopefully, we are not graduating functional illiterates from our local high schools. This has been a problem nationally. Many parents have been concerned.

It's a paradox to me because kids are learning more at an earlier age than in previous years.

Maybe I was just slow, but I'm sure Christine and her classmates have learned things in kindergarten that I didn't learn until the second or third grade.

My school district didn't have public kindergarten anyway, so I went directly into the first grade where I had a great time. I mainly remember the wrestling matches during recess and Mrs. Mills, my first teacher.

I don't remember learning the alphabet or learning to count in the first grade, although it is possible that I did.

I am sure that many of the things that I learned in the first and second grades are now taught students in kindergarten.

I think this earlier learning is terrific. It keeps the kid's interest up and gives them something challenging to look forward to each day.

It does have its problems. I recently ordered a book for Christine, called "A Child's First Book of Numbers." It is an excellent book with lots of color pictures.

Unfortunately, Christine had already mastered everything in the book in less than half a year of school. When she opens the book, she seems puzzled, searching for the challenge and not finding it.

Much of the credit for this goes to Ms. Cathy Zimmerman, Christine's kindergarten teacher. I've already told Ms. Zimmerman personally that I think she's doing a wonderful job with the class.

It is easy to see that a lot of hard work has gone into motivating each child and making learning exciting.

And now that I've told you Ms. Zimmerman, I feel free to tell the superintendent, the principal and anyone else who will listen.

I hope my fellow parents will thank their child's teacher. If they are as pleased as I am something needs to be said.

Dear Sir:

Every situation has positive and negative outlooks. I am happy to be a citizen in a community where community pride rises above all else when circumstances indicate the necessity.

Glades Central's football team and coaches had to feel extremely proud of the many, many citizens of the Glades area who followed them to Ocala for the State Championship play-off game last week. It has often been said that the Glades area fans will follow their teams ANYWHERE and I truly believe it.

May I take this opportunity to thank each person who took time from their busy schedules to share our night of honor with us in Ocala. Milton High School now claims the 3-A State Title in football for the current year, but our team and coaches are champions in their own right. They've come a long way this year and have been true champions all along the route to becoming the second best 3-A team in the State of Florida. That, in itself, is an accomplishment, and I'm proud of them.

Many citizens stepped forward and made financial contributions to assist in defraying expenses for our fine musical organization to travel to Ocala, and we are sincerely appreciative of that support.

Glades Central is moving steadily upward this year, not only in athletics, but academics as well, and I solicit continued support for the efforts of the staff and student body as we strive for excellence. Your assistance in providing reading materials for our Sustained Silent Reading Program, as well as gift subscriptions to magazines and/or monetary gifts for purchasing extra reading materials, are all greatly appreciated. It's been a long-hard struggle, but we feel we are beginning to accomplish some of our long-range objectives and we thank you for the part you have played or intend to play in the future.

The BEST IS IN THE WEST is becoming a famous slogan because the citizens of our wonderful Glades area are making it so. Thanks for past support, and future support as well. Glades Central IS a COMMUNITY SCHOOL. We pledge to provide something for all segments of the community.

/s/ Effie C. Grear,

Dear Sir:

The faculty and administration, and especially the members of the Great Maroon Machine Marching Band would like to thank the beautiful citizenry of the great City of Belle Glade for the great support in helping our band attend the championship football game in Ocala last Friday night.

Because of you, the band was able to charter three Greyhound buses for its 117-member marching band, which gave a great performance that day (Friday) at the world-famous Barnum & Bailey Circus World and during halftime at the game.

The total day was a great educational experience for our kids and we therefore owe our great citizens our heartfelt gratitude. Giving is the key to receiving and many of you have mastered the art of giving and our Creator will cast an appreciative eye and remember you in his blessings. Thank you so much from all of us at Glades Central. God loves you and so do we.

Sincerely,

Drug runner convicted

PAHOKEE—The biggest drug bust involving an airplane, a C-46 cargo plane still parked at the Pahokee Airport, resulted in a conviction last week of one of three men arrested.

Louis P. Angelone, 46, of Miami was convicted last Thursday on charges of trafficking in marijuana and possession of methaqualones (Quaaludes) with intent to sell or deliver.

Angelone was one of three men arrested June 17 when the C-46 Commando was forced down at Pahokee by weather and an oil leak, after having already been forced down once in Haiti on its way to the United States from Colombia.

Sheriff's deputies seized 4.5 tons of marijuana and 30,000 Quaaludes, with a street value of $3.5 million.

Assistant State Attorney Bill King, who prosecuted the case, said it was the first trial to come under the state's tough new drug law.

Detective Ernest Batista, who worked the case with Detective Mark Wetherington, said that if the conviction stands, Angelone will have to serve a minimum sentence of five years in prison and could be sentenced to 30 years.

Batista said he expects Judge John Wessel to pass sentence on Angelone in about two weeks. In the meantime, he said King has asked for $2 million bond but the judge set no bond at all, holding Angelone in jail until he's sentenced.

Angelone first came to law enforcement officers' attention the evening of June 17, when Sheriff's Deputy Tim Brooks noticed the C-46 circling over Pahokee Airport. Shortly after he left, the airplane landed and four men were seen running from it.

Angelone was arrested that same night in the vicinity of the automobile inspection station next to the airport.

... Bill Bullock, Curtis Stambaugh, Lynn Lowery and Michael Miller.

Four cops promoted

BELLE GLADE—Police Chief D. Bill Mathis announced five promotions, including one that will fill the newly created position of police inspector, this week.

Mathis said Lt. Michael Miller, who has been in command of the detective bureau, will be the police inspector.

"We've been grooming (Miller)," Mathis said, to take on more responsibility. We sent him to the FBI National Police Academy, he has the ability to organize and he possesses leadership qualities."

Miller was employed by the department in 1972 and came up through the ranks, starting as a patrolman before he became the department's youngest sergeant and then the youngest lieutenant.

Sgt. Lynn Lowery will replace Miller as the lieutenant in charge of the detective division. Mathis noted that Lowery, who was employed in 1970, has been with the department for ten years and has also exhibited leadership qualities.

"It's in the natural order of things," Mathis said, "to go from sergeant to lieutenant and I had to consider that, although I had different possibilities."

The chief said detective Curtis Stambaugh was being promoted to sergeant and being transferred to the road patrol division to take over Squad B. Stambaugh was employed by the department in 1973 and Mathis said he felt it was time for him to have an opportunity to get experience in management.

Patrolman Bill Bullock was promoted from the road patrol division to the detective division. He was employed by the department in 1978.

"Bullock," Mathis said, "doesn't have much time with this department but he has a lot of experience with other departments. He has his master's degree and he's working for his doctorate."

Finally, Mathis said he was transferring Patrolman Gary Burroughs to the BTU (Burglary Tactical Unit). Burroughs was employed as a crime scene officer in 1973.

The chief said all the promotions would become effective Dec. 29.

LION AUCTIONEERS BERT AND CHARLES WARD MAKE SALE
... of toy tractor that brought $90 for the needy.

Lion auction a bargain for needy

BELLE GLADE—The Belle Glade Lions Club annual Christmas Auction started off slow during their regular meeting Wednesday but before it was over, they'd raised a record amount to split three ways for charity.

There were a number of guests there, particularly since many of them had been invited by auctioneer Bert Ward, there was some speculation they were invited largely for their buying power.

The speculation ended when Ward made the announcement it was an open auction and anyone could buy.

Police Chief D. Bill Mathis got into the bidding early when he bought a ballpoint pen and a cap, which may have gotten him off easy later on, when City Manager Robert Sanders, a guest, helping Ward, started urging him to up the bid for a smoked ham that finally went for $105... after Mathis decided $100 was enough.

That was only after Mathis' new Police Inspector, Mike Miller, was talked by Sanders into upping the bids on a butterball turkey until he was left holding the bird and with a wallet $50 lighter.

Some of the more interesting articles that went on the block included a complete set of x-rays and cleaning by Lion member Ray Behm, a local dentist, a one-month minimum residential water bill by the city, a maid for a day, provided by Work Force and eight hours work provided by a man to be sent by Labor Force.

A case of diet cola went for $15 early but by the time a case of Pepsi-Cola came under the auctioneer's hammer, the bidding was coming easier and that case went for $50.

Bringing good prices were a series of toy John Deere tractors and a dump truck. Lee Mikell, backed up by his father, Wayne, won custody of the first one for $90 but that wasn't enough to beat out honorary club member Ruth Wedgworth when she bid $115 on a second tractor and $170 on a third, saying that would save her the price and bother of a trip to town.

The toy dump truck must have been a good one because it provoked a bidding battle between Lee Mikell and Philip Dulaney, finally ending in a bid of $155.

Who wound up buying it? It doesn't really matter because it all went for good causes.

The auction produced a total of $1,983.30 for the items, all donated by local merchants, and which was to be split three ways.

Lion Club member Don Fliehs said the top ten per cent of the proceeds was intended to purchase Christmas dinner for two needy families in the area.

The rest of the proceeds were to be split between the Glades Area Association of Retarded Citizens, which Director Tricia Blash said would be spent to help buy St. Peters Lutheran Church as a GAARC building, and the Children's Home Society, which Jane Schoenfeld said would be used to buy Christmas gifts for children living in foster homes and to pay medical bills for some children moving into foster homes.

DON'T BE BARRELED OVER BY PRICE ALONE

When buying boots, consider this: Tony Lama uses only genuine leathers from foot to top. The arch is still supported by a steel shank and reinforced by a row of brass nails and wooden pegs. In short, the same basic handcrafted techniques of 65 years ago are still being used today to produce America's favorite western boot. They're made better to last longer. When buying boots, don't be short changed. Insist on Tony Lama.

43 class reunion set

The Belle Glade High School Class of 1943, the first graduating class of the old high school, will have its first-ever reunion on Sunday, December 29.

The class attended school in Pahokee up until their senior year and consisted of 26 students. Dr. Clarence Kidder said 18 of those students have agreed to be at the reunion.

Festivities will get underway with a social hour beginning at 7 p.m. at the Belle Glade Country Club and following dinner, a program will be held in the old high school, now the elementary school.

One of the highlights of the gathering will be the return of F. O. Hobson, the first principal of Belle Glade High. Hobson, now retired, makes his home on the east coast.

"We'll have a rap session," said Kidder, "to renew old friendships and find out what our fellow students have been doing all these years."

Anyone who graduated with the class but who have not yet been contacted is urged to contact Mrs. Lois Tidwell Davis.

"We think we've contacted everybody," said Dr. Kidder, "but if not, we certainly want them to come."

Plant clinic times changed by Joyner

Beginning next month, the monthly gardening clinics and horticultural seminars, which have been conducted the first Friday of each month at the Glades Extension Office, will be conducted at different times.

Gene Joyner, urban horticulturist with the Palm Beach County Department of Agriculture, said the clinics, which have been conducted from 1 to 2:30 p.m., will be conducted from 11 a.m. to noon.

He said the seminars, which have been conducted from 2:30 to 4 p.m., will be conducted from 9 to 11 a.m.

"This will hopefully make it easier for many people having children in school to attend," Joyner said, "and I hope that as many people as possible will take advantage of these programs for the Glades area."

Election

Jan. 14. The Dec. 24 meeting was cancelled because of the holidays. Jan. 14 would only be four days before the time ran out for Miss Walker to appeal the judge's ruling.

Kirk said he understood that Baker wanted to hold the special meeting to meet the judge's ruling that the election be set up as soon as practical.

City Clerk June Boglioli said Tuesday the charter calls for special elections to be held sooner than 30 days and no later than 60 days from the time the commission determines the need for the election.

That would presumably mean that the special election would be set up for sometime between Jan. 20 and Feb. 20.

Neither Miss Walker nor her attorney, Tobias Simon could be contacted for comment and it isn't known whether she will appeal the judge's ruling, although two of her campaign workers said the decision to appeal, should she lose the case, had already been made before the trial. There is a 30-day appeal period.

Baker said he felt that if Judge Williams had intended for the city to wait out the appeal period before setting up the special election, he would've included that in his order.

The order indicates that charges filed against Miss Walker were that she had "intentionally and fraudulently violated the Florida Election Code in that she:

"1. was not and is not a resident of East Borough, from which she was a candidate and which she represents;

"2. failed to report properly $296 collected from individual contributors at a rally;

"3. held a rally/raffle in violation of the Florida gambling law;

"4. accepted cash contributions in excess of $100;

"5. deposited campaign contributions later than the time permitted by law;

"6. failed to report her qualifying fee as an expenditure in a timely fashion;

"7. failed to sign her final contribution and expenditure in a timely fashion;

"8. twice reported an identical expenditure of $2.40; and

"9. held a fund raising function without giving the required notice of intent."

Judge Williams said that while Miss Walker did indeed violate the election code, nothing was presented which demonstrated the violations were intentional or fraudulent. He said the reporting and fund raising violations, "were the result of inexperience on the part of the candidate Dorothy Walker, and her campaign treasurer."

Concerning the residency charge, the judge said that although Miss Walker received mail at the 149 S.E. Third St. address where she leased a room, she didn't actually set up residency.

Juan Velasco, her landlord, testified she had never paid him rent for the month of August and the first check he received was dated Sept. 19, two days after the cause of action was filed and eight days after the election.

Judge Williams went on to say Miss Walker hadn't changed the address on her driver's license, that it still indicated she lived with her mother in the West Borough.

"The Court further finds," Judge Williams wrote, "that even though the defendant Walker may have had some of her personal belongings at the address in the East Borough, it was not her legal residence, and it was nothing more than a mail drop in an effort to comply with the residency requirements of the Charter of Belle Glade for election to the East Borough."

Miss Walker became the first woman and the second black to be elected to the Belle Glade City Commission when she beat out Harris by 41 votes, edging him out of a third term by a 790-749 turnout.

She was one of a trio of political novices who ousted two of the three incumbents running for re-election. Commissioner Claude Tindall was returned to office unopposed but candidates Randy Davidson and Alma decision.

Henry forced out incumbent William Grear and Davidson won the runoff although Miss Henry held a plurality in the first election.

Reaction

Annie L. Hillery, of 613 S.W. 14th St., said "It's almost senseless to continue voting, when the candidate of your choice wins, and when you turn around, the winning candidate has been maneuvered from the seat."

Sabrina Jones, a non-registered voter, said, "Why bother to register to vote, when you do vote, they pick who they want anyway."

Jerry Roberts, a former candidate for the City Commission in 1974 and 1976, said he thinks it was an unfortunate tragedy for the city, and it is a setback for some of the progress made.

"I think Kenneth Harris and his backers of the lawsuit are sore losers. I have never been impressed with Harris as being

Carnival in, crime is out

SOUTH BAY—Police Chief Ellis Burroughs cut across the grain of comments normally made after a carnival comes to town when he told the city commissioners Tuesday night crime in the city was the lowest last week since he's been here.

All too often, carnivals leave a wake of dissatisfied residents and merchants complaining of increased crime and about the actions of the people running the carnival concessions.

Chief Burroughs said he not only had no complaints but crime was down.

"We had only one larceny," he said, "and that was of some paper. There was one traffic accident involving only local folks and there was one case of intoxication . . . and he didn't get drunk at the carnival. He got drunk and then went to the carnival."

"The people of the carnival were exceptionally nice and the people attending the carnival were exceptionally nice," he said. "We didn't have any trouble at the carnival because everybody was too busy having a good time to make trouble."

Burroughs said he couldn't vouch for the carnival if it returns next year but added if it remains the same, he would welcome a return.

He said that on the first day of the carnival, he was escorted through the concessions. He said there was only one he said that "didn't look right" and it was never opened to the public.

Burroughs said the Police Department, which sponsored the carnival, made $3,081 and spent $137.50, clearing $2,943 to be used within the department.

anything other than a lame duck commissioner with someone else calling his shots."

Roberts continued, "as for the ruling that was tendered by the judge, it was a very bad ruling, that had no foundation."

"State law, which in this instance, does not yield to local city ordinance would declare Dorothy Walker the winner."

"She should appeal."

Should Harris, or another white candidate win the special election, it would be the first time since 1969 that there has been no blacks on the city commission.

After Harris filed his suit, Miss Walker held a public hearing on Oct. 1 to gather public support for her against Harris' suit.

Miss Walker said in the meeting she had been exposed to threats and harassment since being elected to the commission. She said she hadn't made a formal complaint about the threats because she didn't feel it would do any good.

Police Lt. Michael Miller subsequently said Miss Walker had told him informally about two threats but declined to make a formal complaint and declined extra security during the public meeting.

Aircraft sales company okayed

A fourth fixed base operation for general aviation was approved Tuesday (Dec. 4) by County Commissioners at Palm Beach International Airport (PBI) just west of West Palm Beach.

By a 4-1 vote, with Chairman Bill Bailey dissenting, the board approved an FBO application from Rockwell Ventures, Inc., in business as Palm Beach Aircraft Sales. The firm will be located on the southeast section of PBI, next to Palm Beach Aviation near Australian Avenue.

Other fixed base operators, opposed to the application, include Butler Aviation and Beckett-Tilford.

Commissioner Peggy Evatt, noting Palm Beach Gardens general aviation facility will close at year's end and another airport will not open in the north county for some time, ascertained another FBO at PBI with space aid from the Lantana Airport will provide a needed interim buffer for private and corporate pilots.

Vice Chairman Dennis Koehler, in supporting the application, determined from Airports Director Richard Cleveland there is no air traffic control problems at the county's major airport which would hinder a fourth FBO facility.

Commissioners Frank Foster and Norman Gregory voted in favor of the move without comment.

Robin Rockwell, president of the new FBO, agreed to work out details with the commission staff which was authorized, under the affirmative action, to make definitive recommendations to the board on future dates. Rockwell said a 38,000 square foot facility is planned.

Urged by Mrs. Evatt, the commission unanimously approved going ahead with the purchase of 850 feet of beachfront in Juno Beach. The appraised cost was $4,585,000 which was agreeable to the seller and would include a total of 18 acres, including land westward from the ocean to U. S. 1 and an existing tunnel.

According to the real estate listings, the land also includes a home, office-apartment complex and older motel. The acreage is known as the Pegasus-Walter Tract.

In other business, the commission:

- Passed amendments to the Animal Regulation Ordinance, including a strict rabies inoculation program and clauses about barking dogs. The barking dog clause "got to" citizen Bert Logsdon of West Palm Beach who owns two dogs. He said they are "watchdogs" and burglars become timid because of them. Commissioners explained that barking complaints, through the amendments, now must be put into writing by two or more separate households in the form of affidavits. Logsdon, who lives near Commissioner Koehler, was asked by the board member if his dogs tip garbage cans. "You're on their garbage route," retorted Logsdon.

Road bond survey set

A $4,000 survey, paid by businessmen and without tax fund involvement, apparently will determine whether a multi-million dollar road bond issue will be placed on the March 11 Presidential Primary ballot in Palm Beach County.

A "Blue Ribbon" committee of 35 members agreed to retain a Los Angeles firm, Decision Making Information, to conduct the survey between Jan. 9-17. The committee, approved by County Commissioners, met Dec. 13 and decided on the survey as a first step toward possible promotion of road bond issue which could be set at $175 million to $185 million.

Roads are considered a dire necessity in view of rapid county growth and tax funds, both county and state, have proved inadequate to meet the needs.

Decision Making Information specialists plan to sample 300 voters on attitudes about the bond issue in January. Survey results, according to special committee spokesmen, will determine if the issue should be placed on the ballot in March, at a later date, or, possibly, not at all.

County Commissioners, after reviewing a "road want" list and adding others, are scheduled to meet again Jan. 22 to review committee recommendations and make the ballot decision.

The "Blue Ribbon" committee was selected by the county's Economic Council and approved by the commission which has emphasized that no county tax money will be involved in promoting any road bond issue.

Various road improvements, especially widening programs for major county arteries, have been supplied to the special committee for consideration in any issue.

Special Workshop
Possible legal methods to cope with increasing jet aircraft noise at Palm Beach International Airport will be featured on the agenda of a County Commission workshop next Thursday (Dec. 20).

The session is scheduled at the main courtroom in West Palm Beach at 9:30 a.m., tentatively in Conference Room A.

Anti-noise organizations have expressed concerns about additional flights at PBI and with a master plan which calls for airport expansion. The County Commission legal department is expected to report on possible means to curtail flights or reach other solutions, as approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

A $1.68 million operating assistance grant from the federal government is anticipated to defray deficits of Palm Beach County's bus system.

BADCOCK HOME FURNISHING CENTERS CELEBRATE 75 YEARS OF SERVICE

Badcock Home Furnishings Centers, with 164 stores serving communities in Florida, Georgia and Alabama is celebrating its 75th Anniversary this Fall. From its modest beginnings in 1904, the firm has become one of the Southeast's largest distributors of furniture, appliances, floor covering, and home entertainment items.

With $1.78 of his own in his pocket and $100 from his father, 22-year-old Wogan Stanhope Badcock, Sr. became the proud owner of his own furniture store in 1920.

His father, Henry Stanhope Badcock, who founded the business 75 years ago in Mulberry, Florida, turned over the Mulberry store for a $9,000 purchase price, payable whenever possible.

The younger Badcock is now chairman of the board of Badcock Corp., the parent company of the 164 home furnishing centers, which are mostly dealer-owned and operated. Seven stores were added during the last 12 months.

Wogan Badcock carried on his father's traditions and slogans by continuing to back up his business with the words, "Badcock Will Treat You Right."

In the early years, it was rather difficult to convince any of the larger manufacturers to pay much attention to him while visiting the furniture markets. But they finally recognized his future business potential and the Badcock furniture expansion began.

The first Badcock store faced the railroad in Mulberry, a small, two-room building with the family home in back. Wogan Sr.'s first expansion was to Ft. Meade, Fla.

For many years, trucks and route men had served customers scattered throughout the county, taking orders and delivering weekly.

Business grew and more stores opened, so soon it was necessary to operate an entire fleet of trucks, not only for delivering furniture, but for trips to pick up merchandise from manufacturers.

Badcock originated a system for establishing new stores that is still in use today. The unique plan is unlike any other in the U.S. operating today.

The company's objective is to combine the advantages of centralized buying, warehousing and distribution with the advantages of local retailer to provide customers with quality merchandise, courteous service, convenient credit terms, reasonable prices and prompt delivery at the hometown level. Badcock Corp., still headquartered in Mulberry, helps put the dealer-owners into business, then provides them merchandise on a consignment basis.

"We find that a person is more motivated if he's an owner rather than just a manager for a large corporation," said Chuck Cooper, Badcock's advertising manager. Cooper noted that the corporation likes dealers to become involved in the community in which they live.

According to Rodney Cornell, who operates the local Badcock Home Furnishings Center, the corporation offers several thousand items, many name-brand, in a catalog to each dealer. The dealers can not stock every item, but they can special order the merchandise for delivery on the regular weekly run.

The corporation, with large distribution centers in Mulberry and Live Oak, Florida, having several million dollars' inventories, provides the merchandise delivery to the stores, auditing, a credit system and dealer assistance.

In 1974, a new 41,000 square foot bedding manufacturing facility was completed in Mulberry, providing the corporation with increased production capacity to supply the expanding bedding market. Bedding is the only product currently manufactured by the corporation.

"We're still a success because our customer's needs are uppermost in our business philosophy," Cooper said, noting the corporation expects to continue its planned, solid growth.

Wogan Sr. turned over the reins as president to his son, Wogan Jr. in 1965, but he remains active in the company.

The elder Badcock is very active in community affairs and is especially known for his generous support of community programs.

Badcock was recently honored with the highest award made annually by the International Home Furnishings Representatives Association, its "Pillar of the Industry" award. It was the first time a retailer/wholesaler ever received the honor.

Rodney extends a cordial invitation to everyone to visit his store at 256 North Avenue "A", Belle Glade, during the 75th Anniversary Celebration now taking place.

Aircraft sales company okayed

A fourth fixed base operation for general aviation was approved Tuesday (Dec. 4) by County Commissioners at Palm Beach International Airport (PBI) just west of West Palm Beach.

By a 4-1 vote, with Chairman Bill Bailey dissenting, the board approved an FBO application from Rockwell Ventures, Inc., in business as Palm Beach Aircraft Sales. The firm will be located on the southeast section of PBI, next to Palm Beach Aviation near Australian Avenue.

Others fixed base operators, opposed to the application, include Butler Aviation and Beckett-Tilford.

Commissioner Peggy Evatt, noting Palm Beach Gardens general aviation facility will close at year's end and another airport will not open in the north county for some time, ascertained another FBO at PBI with space aid from the Lantana Airport will provide a needed interim buffer for private and corporate pilots.

Vice Chairman Dennis Koehler, in supporting the application, determined from Airports Director Richard Cleveland there is no air traffic control problems at the county's major airport which would hinder a fourth FBO facility.

Commissioners Frank Foster and Norman Gregory voted in favor of the move without comment.

Robin Rockwell, president of the new FBO, agreed to work out details with the commission staff which was authorized, under the affirmative action, to make definitive recommendations to the board on future details. Rockwell said a 38,000 square foot facility is planned.

Urged by Mrs. Evatt, the commission unanimously approved going ahead with the purchase of 850 feet of beachfront in Juno Beach. The appraised cost was $4,585,000 which was agreeable to the seller and would include a total of 18 acres, including land westward from the ocean to U. S. 1 and an existing tunnel.

According to the real estate listings, the land also includes a home, office-apartment complex and older motel. The acreage is known as the Pegasus-Walter Tract.

In other business, the commission:

- Passed amendments to the Animal Regulation Ordinance, including a strict rabies inoculation program and clauses about barking dogs. The barking dog clause "got to" citizen Bert Logsdon of West Palm Beach who owns two dogs. He said they are "watchdogs" and burglars become timid because of them. Commissioners explained that barking complaints, through the amendments, now must be put into writing by two or more separate households in the form of affidavits. Logsdon, who lives near Commissioner Koehler, was asked by the board member if his dogs fit garbage cans. "You're on their garbage route," retorted Logsdon.

The "Blue Ribbon" committee was selected by the county's Economic Council and approved by the commission which has emphasized that no county tax money will be involved in promoting any road bond issue.

Various road improvements, especially widening programs for major county arteries, have been supplied to the special committee for consideration in any issue.

Special Workshop
Possible legal methods to cope with increasing jet aircraft noise at Palm Beach International Airport will be featured on the agenda of a County Commission workshop next Thursday (Dec. 20).

The session is scheduled at the main courthouse in West Palm Beach at 9:30 a.m., tentatively in Conference Room A.

Anti-noise organizations have expressed concerns about additional flights at PBI and with a master plan which calls for airport expansion. The County Commission legal department is expected to report on possible means to curtail flights or reach other solutions, as approved by the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

A $1.68 million operating assistance grant from the federal government is anticipated to defray deficits of Palm Beach County's bus system

Badcock originated a system for establishing new stores that is still in use today. The unique plan is unlike any other in the U.S. operating today.

The company's objective is to combine the advantages of centralized buying, warehousing and distribution with the advantages of local retailer to provide customers with quality merchandise, courteous service, convenient credit terms, reasonable prices and prompt delivery at the hometown level. Badcock Corp., still headquartered in Mulberry, helps put the dealer-owners into business, then provides them merchandise on a consignment basis.

"We find that a person is more motivated if he's an owner rather than just a manager for a large corporation," said Chuck Cooper, Badcock's advertising manager. Cooper noted that the corporation likes dealers to become involved in the community in which they live.

According to Rodney Connell, who operates the local Badcock Home Furnishings Center, the corporation offers several thousand items, many name-brand, in a catalog to each dealer. The dealers can't stock every item, but they can special order the merchandise for delivery on the regular weekly run.

The corporation, with large distribution centers in Mulberry and Live Oak, Florida, having several million dollars' inventories, provides the merchandise delivery to the stores, auditing, a credit system and dealer assistance.

In 1974, a new 41,000 square foot bedding manufacturing facility was completed in Mulberry, providing the corporation with increased production capacity to supply the expanding bedding market. Bedding is the only product currently manufactured by the corporation.

"We're still a success because our customers' needs are uppermost in our business philosophy," Cooper said, noting the corporation expects to continue its planned, solid growth.

Wogan Sr. turned over the reins as president to his son, Wogan Jr. in 1965, but he remains active in the company.

The elder Badcock is very active in community affairs and is especially known for his generous support of community programs.

Badcock was recently honored with the highest award made annually by the International Home Furnishings Representatives Association, its "Pillar of the Industry" award. It was the first time a retailer/wholesaler ever received the honor.

Rodney extends a cordial invitation to everyone to visit his store at 256 North Avenue "A", Belle Glade, during the 75th Anniversary Celebration now taking place.

Crusaders win big

BELLE GLADE—Last week was a big one for Christian Day School basketball as the school's three teams won five games, with victories coming over LaBelle, Jupiter Christian and the alumni.

Coach Ken Lassiter said the week started Monday, Dec. 10, when the girls' team beat LaBelle, 58-42. He said the high scorers for that game were Joni Davis, who picked up 22 points and 12 rebounds, Sherri Mann, who made 16 points and six rebounds and Paula Anderson with 11 points and nine rebounds.

The girls, the boys varsity and the boys junior varsity all marked up wins Tuesday, Dec. 11 over Jupiter Christian.

The junior varsity won big, with a 76-27 victory. Lassiter said Luis Garcia had an outstanding game, scoring 26 points and making 16 rebounds. He was followed by Tavi Garcia with 20 points, eight rebounds and nine assists.

The JV record now stands at 1-1 and the next game will be Jan. 4 at Moore Haven.

The girls won their game against Jupiter Christian, 49-32. They are still undefeated for the season, with a record thus far of 6-0.

The outstanding players for the game were Paula Anderson, who scored 22 points and made 14 rebounds, and Jones Paves, with 14 points and 14 rebounds. The team next plays Jan. 7 at Moore Haven.

The boys varsity dominated the Jupiter Christian team with a 79-53 win.

Sophomore William Cruz was the leading player in his first game as a starter when he scored ten points, picked off 17 rebounds, made five assists, six steals and blocked two shots by Jupiter players.

"This was the single best performance of the year," Lassiter said. Lassiter also singled out Jesus Armas, who made 24 points and nine assists, and Bill Taylor, who made 16 points.

The boys varsity also racked up a win on Thursday, Dec. 13, with a 63-48 victory over a team made up of Christian Day School alumni. Lassiter said the game was a rematch of a Nov. 27 game, which the varsity also won, 60-34.

"The alumni had a better game last week," Lassiter said, "but the varsity's second half performance was too much for them."

He singled out Bill Taylor, with 15 points, Alex Hermdia with 12 points and Jesus Armas with 11 points as the varsity team's best players.

The alumni team's best player an leading scorer was Ken Warren with 17 points. Other players included Kenny Throop, Eddie and Mike Cunningham, Allen Bowen, Hughie Acree, Tim Atkins, Omar Escobar, Jim Youngblood and Mike York.

The boys varsity now has a season record of 3-1 in the regular season play and 5-1 overall.

Lassiter said holiday games will include the Glades Day School Christmas Tournament to be held Thursday-Friday, Dec. 27 and 28.

In the first round on the 27th, the Crusaders will meet Palm Beach Prep at 6:30 p.m. and Glades Day will play Indian River Academy of Fort Pierce at 8 p.m.

The consolation game will take place at 6:30 on Saturday and the championship game will take place at 8.

The Crusader varsity's next regular game will be Jan. 4 in Moore Haven.

KARATE

Blue Dragon school has Palm Beach County Champion

They come each Monday and Thursday night, young men willing to put in long hours of practice and hard work and, by their training, they learn a stern discipline few of us will ever know.

It's called karate and it's taught at the Blue Dragon Karate School in Pahokee. The instructor is Nelson Lopez, a black belt in this form of martial art and a young man himself.

One of their shining stars is young William Hand, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hand of Canal Point. In the recent Palm Beach Holidays Open Karate Championships, the ten-year-old delighted his parents and instructor by becoming the county champion in his weight division.

William is an orange belt and will soon become a brown. Most of the others wear belts that are white or orange and most of Lopez's 35 students have been coming to the Kempo now for two years.

To advance, they must improve their techniques and develop skills as fighters. But fighting isn't all karate is about.

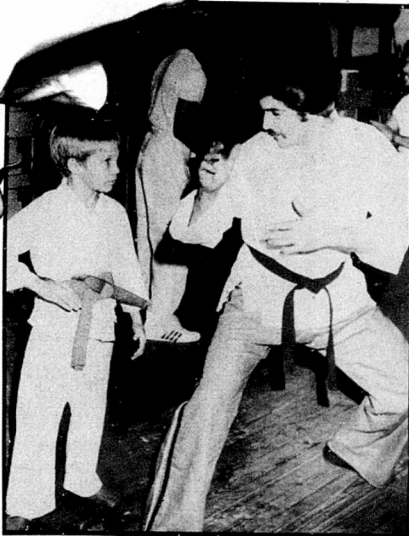

Karate was developed in India by monks who wished to protect themselves. It spread rapidly throughout the Orient over hundreds of years and was developed to a high degree by the Japanese and Chinese.

And while self defense is the reason students often give for the work and effort they put into their training, others in a more reflective mood say softly that they use karate to "get in shape."

Lopez is with the students constantly, cajoling, pushing and working with them until they are able, like he is, to kick eight inches above their heads and to move with lightning speed.

But in the meantime, they work and work hard. William not only attends the twice-weekly sessions, but also works with Lopez in private lessons at his home.

It's a strange kind of ballet, those practice sessions. The movements are from memory and training and, like ballet, they are themselves a story.

Marital bliss not limited to my household

In the absence of "In the Fast Lane" it appears you're once again stuck with this writer's version of events. Fast Lane Trish Johnson journeyed off to Houston where she will be wed come Christmas and we wish her all the luck in the world.

Now, on to serious business . . .

*****

Son Burke has become a little more sophisticated over the span of his almost-four years on earth, but I was somewhat shocked by what he came up with the other day.

The wife had just showered and was roaming the household clad only in a towel.

"My," said Burke, "you're sexy!"

Lilly's grin eroded and was quickly replaced with something more threatening when I advised Burke she isn't sexy, "She's your mother."

*****

While we're on the topic of marital bliss, I must also get my licks in at Jim Murray, highway patrol trooper of broken leg fame.

Jim, Florida Sportsman editor Vic Dunaway and

I all had occasion to leave the homestead Saturday afternoon for a duck chasing expedition. It was sometime after dark before we returned and from there, the narration is Jim's.

"I knew I was in trouble," he related, "when my boy Jason met me at the door and said 'you're late for supper.'" There was a cruel glint in the youngster's eyes.

"I walked inside, carefully wiping the mud off my shoes, and peeked into the dining room. It was dark. Except for the candles on the table. And my plate."

This is about the time a husband begins to wonder if he's forgotten something. Is it our anniversary? Her birthday?

"I tiptoed through the kitchen and carefully, without making a sound, cracked open the oven door. Shrimp creole."

"I knew I was in trouble then."

Matters turned out okay for Jim. The last time I saw him, he had not yet suffered from having his other leg broken by his wife Phyllis.

Not all of us can be so lucky.

*****

Our annual company Christmas party is tonight. It is a date dreaded by the management who know the quantities of holiday spirits the employees are able to consume during a one-hour "attitude adjustment."

We are happy to report, however, that this year the employees will forgo booze. The stuff has become much more valuable mixed with lead-free in the family auto's gas tank than it is wandering around in employee bodies.

*****

Speaking of gasoline prices, an inventor in Fort Myers claims he has come up with an automobile that runs on compressed air. He said he modified a standard V-8 engine so it "fires" with compressed air from a tank carried inside the car. He's hoping he'll be able to fix up a compressor so the whole car will run off a continuously charged 12-volt battery.

And the man is further charging he's having a tough time with the auto makers. Nobody wants to hear about it.

It will be interesting to see what happens with his invention. Though everybody says the idea is unfeasible, all he has to do is point to his station wagon.

Somehow, it runs. I wonder if those folks who are saying it won't are the same ones that claim a bumblebee cannot fly?

*****

Compressed air for automobiles. Now wouldn't that just make Iran go crazy?

ELLIE THORNTON was the winner of $75 last week in the Shop Pahokee First promotion now underway. Mrs. Thornton (center) entered her name at Royal's Department Store and Mrs. Carolyn Royal (left) looked on as Dr. Phillip Provenza (right) presented Mrs. Thornton her check. The promotion has one more week to run and the winner will receive $100.

Christmas is a time of great joy

TAKING IT FROM THE TOP

By DAVID T. EVANS

Pastor

Everglades Presbyterian Church
Since the middle of November active preparations for Christmas have been under way. Decorations and lights have adorned our streets and carols have been played in stores and on the radio.
In churches the Advent Season has been celebrated with wreaths, candles and the purple color has been on the pulpits and on the ministers. In homes, trees wreaths have appeared and bright lights outline windows and roofs. The streets have been crowded with the cars of shoppers. The stores are scenes of milling crowds.

To some of course Christmas will be a quiet, sober moment in time. Can the singing of the angels blend in with anxiety over the health of a loved one? Can the laughter of excited children have a relationship to a tragedy in the family? Does God have a relationship to every facet of life?

Before jumping up with a glib answer let us look at God's action in the birth of His Son. Jesus did not just appear full grown, but was announced by prophets of old. He did not come at just any time, but in the fullness of time — The right time when He was most desperately needed.

The Son of God came as a child to a good but humble family, yet was acknowledged by the lowly and the great. He came not to stay in the crib, but to deliver us from self-oppression and bondage to sin. Jesus came to show God's acceptance, that all might accept themselves — because God loved them.

Christmas really becomes God's outward act of acceptance or love in action. God had promised to be faithful to His people and the climactic event is the sending of a deliverer to His people.

When God accepts us and loves us. He does it to all of us in every situation. Christ came to man and woman where they were in their despairing, frustrating condition — hopelessness.

God's love in action in Jesus comes to us as we accept Him. God's gift to the world must be received or it remains only an offered gift in the Heavenly Father's hand. However, wherever we are, God comes to us and is with us. Christmas focuses our attention upon that which exists every day and has existed since God established His covenant relationship with His people. Christmas even in the time of grief, tragedy, defeat or frustration can strengthen our faith and give us hope. Christmas reminds us of God. Who cares.

The Spirit of the Christ-Child has come into lives on every level of life, or event, down through the ages.

Area church news

That Christmas May Grow

Some people have the idea that Christmas was more exciting when they were very young. Waiting for Santa . . . wondering what he would bring . . . breathlessly opening our gifts.

There's another kind of excitement that is part of Christmas when we become more mature. We begin to grasp more joyously the meaning of the Day. This is the Birthday of Jesus, the Christ.

Nourish and cultivate your child's religious faith. Then, as he or she grows spiritually, the joy of Christmas will grow, too.

The churches of our community invite you and your family to join in the religious celebration of the birth of Our Lord — that Christmas may grow in your life.

To get up smiling

FATHER TIME would never want to turn back the clock if he had a chance to start the year off right with a new electronic digital alarm. The perfect gift for anyone with an eye on the future, these two new designs from General Electric are definitely up to the minute. Both clocks offer AM/PM indicators, view alarm, power interruption indication and 24-hour alarm. For a couple with time on their mind is a "His and Hers" alarm, which can be set to two different wake-up times. Top-mounted dual function alarm control features Snooz-Alarm; a calendar offers day and month at the touch of a button. Other features include automatic readout dimmer and forward and reverse time and alarm set. For individualists, a top-mounted single alarm clock offers hi/lo brightness control and Snooz-Alarm. Suggested retail for dual function alarm is $32.98; for the single alarm, $26.98.

Plan ahead for jolly season

'Tis the season to be jolly, and chances are your children will have several parties to attend.

To keep both parents and youngsters jolly, have your children keep a list of the parties to which they are invited.

Go over their clothes with them, and pick out outfits to be worn to each event.

Decide on accessories. If your daughter plans to borrow your evening bag for an occasion, check your own list to be sure you won't be using it yourself.

Planning ahead at holiday time is a sure way to avoid disastrous conflicts and last-minute hysterics.

MOVIES CATCH ALL THE FAMILY ACTION... and they're so easy that everyone at the party or family holiday dinner can join in the fun of "shooting," says Sankyo, the movie people.

For the kitchen king on your holiday list

If there's a person on your Christmas list who enjoys experimenting in the kitchen, a cookbook can be the perfect gift.

Today, there are cookbooks that cover every area of culinary creativity from gourmet cooking to candy making.

New and exciting recipes are constantly being developed to challenge even the most experienced chefs.

From vegetarian to meat and potatoes, a cookbook can be found that includes recipes to entice any palate.

Students will appreciate cookbooks that offer recipe ideas which are inexpensive to prepare and nutritious.

The more experienced cook will relish a recipe book that includes exotic menu ideas.

No matter what level the chef on your list is at in his or her stage of culinary development, there is a cookbook available that will make hours in the kitchen seem like minutes.

"The liberty of the individual must be thus far limited: he must not make himself a nuisance to other people."

High kicking Santas

A CHORUS LINE starring The Biggest Little Santas In All The World is Cappuccino's way of bringing joy to the world this Christmas. Rows upon rows of high kicking Santa Clauses are woven into the green or navy fabric creating a delightful and whimsical gift tie for the holiday season. Two different patterns were designed to suit the taste of the man who likes either neat clubs or tapestry stripes, both available at your local men's specialty and department stores. To make this a complete gift package, priced at $8.50, every Supersantatie comes with its own Santa Bag. From The Cappuccino Division of Schreter of Baltimore.

Pictures perfect

"BE A CHAMP AT CHRISTMAS," says Olympic decathlon gold medalist, Bruce Jenner. Give someone you love a new Minolta Automatic XG-1, a 35 mm single-lens-reflex camera that sets the exposure for you. "All you have to do for beautiful pictures," says Jenner, "is point, focus and shoot."

A super selection of gift ideas to please everyone on your list

If you've got a Christmas list a mile long, and only a handful of ideas for presents, here are some gift suggestions suitable for every member of the family. They should help to make each gift special and Christmas shopping a little easier.

Preschoolers

Choosing presents for children can often leave you limp with frustration.

When shopping for toys, your job will be simplified by keeping in mind the child's age and development, the safety of the toy, and its various play functions.

One to three year olds use toys to make discoveries about the world around them and increase their motor skills. This age group likes surprises and toys with hidden parts, so one gift choice could be Baby Elephant from Kusan.

Baby Elephant has three storage drawers in its side that youngsters open by matching up the color and shape-coded keys.

Road America 500 is another exciting toy for preschoolers. A special crank "chain drive" enables them to enjoy the thrills of racing cars without electricity or batteries.

Three and four year olds like toys that can be taken apart and put back together again. A real classic is the "Cootie" game introduced by Schaper Toys over 30 years ago.

Cootie is still teaching children fundamentals such as taking turns, colors and numbers, as each player races to finish adding legs, eyes, antennae and so on to his or her Cootie.

School-age children

A toy that will provide limitless creative play is the Playmobil System of "little people," from Schaper Toys.

"Little people" come in ten themed sets, such as Farmers, Cowboys and Firefighters, complete with appropriate accessories.

Kids can use the toys to act out real-life activities, or use their imagination and create any number of fantasy situations.

For children over four, keep in mind they have definite tastes and probably a staggering collection of playthings.

Catch the action ...

Exciting holiday parties are movie-making naturals

Catching all the action at a party or family get-together during the holidays is a natural movie event if you want to capture action and not just the frozen split seconds of a snapshot.

From icing the cake to blowing out candles at a birthday party ... or from the chatter as visitors arrive through the groans and giggles around the holiday table, movies can catch it all ... and so easily!

One very successful new idea is to let everyone shoot some footage. Pass the camera around the table as you would the turkey platter.

Movie-making tips

It not only creates hilarity during filming—but everyone will enjoy the "showing" even more. Just keep it set for wide angle to ensure good focus and minimize movement.

With the science fiction craze still going strong, a space-related toy is sure to be a hit, especially if it's one of the year's most unusual toys.

For instance, Fantom 4, from Schaper, is a hovercraft that kids launch on a fan-powered flight.

After charging up at its "base station," Fantom 4 floats on a cushion of air 1/4" off any flat surface for up to 2 minutes.

The fan that lifts the hovercraft off the ground is designed to be completely safe—even if a child sticks a finger in it!

A game that will keep kids active and amused for hours is "Leapfrogs," also from Schaper Toys. The pond-shaped game board has "lily pads" that hold ten bright green frogs.

A wind-up mechanism starts the action, and causes the frogs to leap unpredictably into the air, as players try to catch them in their plastic nets.

A new gift idea that can be enjoyed by children and adults alike is "Vic, the Voice-Controlled Vette."

A remote control toy that is activated by the human voice, Vic responds to any spoken command to go forward or backward and turn in a circle. Kids from 5 to 95 will love calling Vic and watching him respond.

Dad

If you find it harder to choose gifts for men than for women, your thinking is probably stuck in the ties and belts section of the department store.

If so, you should realize one of the best ways to get to a man's heart is through his liquor cabinet. The true beer connoisseur appreciates that imported beers, particularly German brews, are superior.

So, a gift of a case of St. Pauli Girl German beer is sure to please Dad's tastebuds this Christmas.

Clean, light tasting and brewed without chemicals or preservatives, St. Pauli Girl ranks among the top five imported beers in the U.S.

If the man of the house is a Scotch whisky lover, he'll love a gift of Glen Moray single malt Scotch.

Until recently, the best of the Highland single malt whiskies have been consumed only in local Scottish pubs near the distillery in which they're brewed.

But now, Americans can enjoy the taste of single malt Scotch, just in time for the gift-giving season. Single malt Scotches are only for those who truly love the taste of Scotch, so a gift of Glen Moray will truly delight and impress the connoisseur on your Christmas list.

Mom

Something to keep in mind when shopping for Mom is that women comprise the single largest category of wine drinkers in the country today.

A gift of Folanari Italian wines will meet all of Mom's requirements for a quality wine. Three popular table wines are Folanari Soave, Valpolicella and Bardolino, any of which would be perfect to serve with that special holiday dinner.

Or, two new Folanari wines are now available: Verona Red and Verona White, which are similar in taste to the Soave and Valpolicella, and perfect as party wines.

Almost as important as the holiday season itself are the many tantalizing foods served at holiday celebrations.

To make a variety of dishes even more appealing, Mom will love a gift of Galliano liqueurs.

These "Italian Classics" will complement any Christmas menu and inspire new ones, whether Mom uses the original Liqueur Galliano or Amaretto di Galliano and Sambuca di Galliano as well.

Whole family

A most thoughtful gift from Santa is one that the whole family can enjoy. An exciting new catching and throwing game, Crazy Kones by Cosom will definitely fit the bill.

Consisting of two catching kones and one cone to throw back and forth, the game can be played in a variety of ways for loads of fun to be enjoyed by all.

Or, to see those faces really light up on Christmas morning, why not bring home an addition to the family—a live pet.

Whether it be a dog, cat, bird or hamster, a pet is an ideal gift that will add joy to your home throughout the New Year.

The light will look natural, but be brighter. If your Halloween party, Thanksgiving dinner or Yuletide family group is big, it might be advisable.

Simple instructions before passing the camera will make the "epic" even better: shoot for at least a count of 6 to 8 slowly.

If someone wants to "pan" the group, tell them to do it as if they've been frozen and can barely move—and then move the whole upper body, not just the head.

Use a telescopic mike if you have one—but a table mike works very well, too.

Have plenty of film on hand. With everyone shooting, it can go quickly.

If you want a more planned film, plan to get shots of the guests arriving, the kitchen crew at work, kids playing together, the start of the groaning table, then the shots around the table and maybe end with the turkey's bare bones.

Help's available

Always shoot 6 to 10 seconds—it makes a smoother movie than a second or three only.

These are some very simple tips—and, for anyone wanting more of this type of movie-making help, Sankyo has folders available, or ask your local photo store.

The newspaper "morgue" or library was originally a file of materials for obituary articles but was expanded into a reference library.

On the fifth day of Christmas ...

FOR CENTURIES, "The Twelve Days of Christmas," with its unusual list of Christmas gifts, has been one of our favorite festive Christmas carols. Inspired by this joyous song, Reed & Barton Silversmiths have recreated its frolicking characters in rich silverplate, for a unique "two-by-two" annual series of miniature Christmas bells. The 1979 edition features bells number 5 and 6 in the series—the "Golden Rings" bell and the "Goose-a-Laying" bell. Also available are the two previous pairs in this on-going collection. The delightful "Twelve Days Bells" series of ornaments is available at finer stores for $17.50 per pair, gift-boxed.

Make children happy while keeping Christmas costs down

The thought of Christmas shopping should conjure up visions of sugarplums, not of empty wallets in January. So thrifty shoppers will be glad to know that quality toys costing $5 or less can still be found.

That means kids can enjoy safe and entertaining toys, while parents and other gift-givers enjoy a Christmas well within their means. Here are a few possibilities.

An all-time favorite game for over three decades, Cootie is a lovable bug that kids put together. A throw of the dice indicates which plastic body part to add next, as players race to finish their bug first.

Perfect for pre-schoolers

No reading skills are required, so Cootie, from Schaper Toys, is a perfect gift for preschoolers.

For more active play, Cosom's Crazy Kones is an exciting yet inexpensive toss game. It comes with two plastic catching "kones" and a third "kone" with resilient plastic nose.

Safe for indoor use, "Crazy Kones" can be played in a variety of ways, throwing and catching the cone to rack up the highest score.

Dogs are man's best friend, and Lil' Pup is sure to be baby's best buddy. Lil' Pup, from Kusan Toys, has ears that flop, a nose that wiggles, and a tail that wags whenever baby pushes it down on the floor. A lovable pet for children ages 1 to 3, Lil' Pup costs less than $5.

For creative fun at low prices,

TAKE ONE TRASH CAN, add arms and feet and a changeable face, and you've got a zany Trash Can Man that will give youngsters a barrel of fun on Christmas Day, and long after. Trash Can Man, from Kusan, is loaded with play value, yet costs less than $5.

Kids will enjoy "whomping" buttons with Schaper's Button Factory. Children can create an endless variety of personal buttons or badges by using the "Whomper" to sandwich pictures in clip-on plastic badges.

Or they can create dozens of funny faces on Kusan's Trash Can Man. Trash Can Man is made of tough plastic with interchangeable arms, legs and facial features, and it also doubles as a bank.

Tiny toys

Gift-givers might also consider a starter set of Playmobil "little people." Playmobil from Schaper, is a series of ten themed sets that include 3" high

"little people" figures and click-on accessories for imaginative, creative play.

For under $5, Santa can start a child's collection of sets such as Farmers, Firefighters, Cowboys or Indians, or add new accessories to Playmobil toys the child already owns.

Delightful money-savers

Christmas shouldn't mean having to go into debt in order to fill children's gift requests. Knowledgeable shoppers, with careful selection, can find any number of inexpensive toys, such as those mentioned here, which will delight and entertain the most difficult-to-please child on Christmas list.

Or they can create dozens of funny faces on Kusan's Trash Can Man. Trash Can Man is made of tough plastic with interchangeable arms, legs and facial features, and it also doubles as a bank.

Tiny toys

Gift-givers might also consider a starter set of Playmobil "little people." Playmobil, from Schaper, is a series of ten themed sets that include 3" high

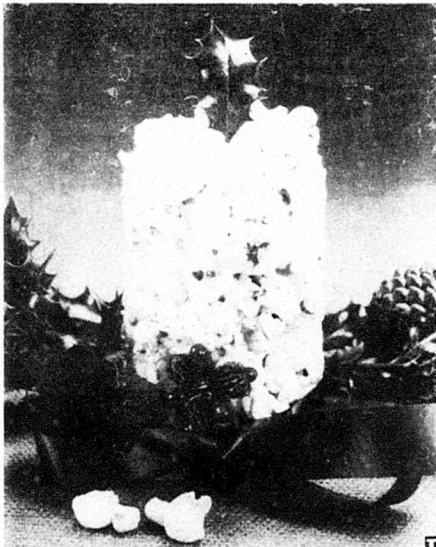

"little people" figures and click-on accessories for imaginative, creative play.

For under $5, Santa can start a child's collection of sets such as Farmers, Firefighters, Cowboys or Indians, or add new accessories to Playmobil toys the child already owns.

Delightful money-savers

Christmas shouldn't mean having to go into debt in order to fill children's gift requests. Knowledgeable shoppers, with careful selection, can find any number of inexpensive toys, such as those mentioned here, which will delight and entertain the most difficult-to-please child on Christmas list.

IT'S POPPIN' TIME AGAIN

Popcorn has been a Christmas tradition since the Pilgrims first harvested corn. This molded popcorn "candle" is a personal, creative touch that even the busiest of us can take time to make—it's so quick, easy and economical made with pop-in-the package popcorn. Just follow the recipe below and pack the popcorn into cans of various sizes such as the tall sauce cans from packaged dinners, shorter cans of spaghetti and the smaller cans that frozen juice comes in.

They are such fun to make, the children will want to join in the holiday spirit and help. The "candles" can be trimmed with a pretty ribbon of any color that's left over from package wrapping, and used as a trim for the mantelpiece or as a centerpiece for the holiday table. They also make lovely gifts with a personal touch that says how much you care.

This year why not bring the tradition of popcorn to your home whether as popcorn balls, garland around the tree, or as brightly decorated candles.

HOLIDAY POPCORN "CANDLES"

- 1 package (5 oz. or 142 g) Jiffy Pop® Popcorn
- 1 cup (240 ml) sugar
- 1/2 cup (120 ml) corn syrup
- 1/2 cup (120 ml) water
- 1/4 cup (60 ml) butter or margarine

Extra utensils needed: Empty sauce can, canned pasta can or juice can.

Prepare popcorn according to package directions. Place popcorn in large pan or bowl. Heat sugar, corn syrup, and water in sauce pan to 250°-260°F (120°C) or until a drop of the syrup in cold water forms a hard ball. Remove from heat and stir in the butter. Pour over the popcorn and mix thoroughly with a large spoon.

The coated popcorn is now ready to form into the "candles." Grease the inside of can thoroughly. Grease your hands also. Working quickly, pack the popcorn tightly into the cans. Allow popcorn to sit for 15 minutes. Remove the popcorn "candles" from the cans and place on plate or tray. Now each "candle" may be decorated with bows and holly leaves to look even cheerier than real lighted candles.

Enjoy Christmas all through the year

Those special Christmas moments can be enjoyed at any time during the year with the help of a video cassette recorder and a video camera.

A video cassette recorder can turn any color TV set into a complete home viewing system. The Video Director from Zenith has more features and offers the customer more control over color TV programming and viewing than ever before possible from Zenith.

The Video Director can record up to five hours on one cassette. Its "Weekend" timer allows recording time to be pre-set up to three days in advance.

The set can also be programmed to record programs of the same length at the same time on successive days until the tape is fully used. For instance, a week's worth of a favorite daytime serial can be watched in one evening.

A remote Action Control can be used to edit unwanted material during recording.

Speed Search can help you find just the spot on the tape you are looking for quickly.

Stop Action can freeze that important kick-off or goal—all by remote control.

Cameras that record picture and sound are also available. Add one to the Zenith Video Director, and those special moments need not be just a memory—they can be relived at any time throughout the years, to keep Christmas bright.

Start A New Holiday Tradition

The holidays—a time of joy and merrymaking for all—also brings with it a dilemma for the cook: wanting to try new and different recipes, yet not wanting to break tradition. This year, the choice is made easier with "Pumpkin Ribbon Pie." Prepared with unflavored gelatin, it's a combination of two well-loved holiday desserts in one—two layers of spicy pumpkin pie with a "cheese-cake" layer in the middle. And, the unflavored gelatin means that except for baking the pastry shell, you don't need to use precious oven space—usually reserved for the turkey. You and your family will all agree, a new tradition has begun!

PUMPKIN RIBBON PIE

- 1 envelope Knox® Unflavored Gelatin
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 2 packages (3 oz. ea.) cream cheese, softened
- 3/4 cup canned pumpkin
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 9-inch baked pastry shell

In medium saucepan, mix unflavored gelatin with 1/2 cup sugar; blend in egg yolks beaten with milk. Let stand 1 minute. Stir over low heat until gelatin is completely dissolved, about 5 minutes; add vanilla.

In large bowl, using electric mixer, beat cream cheese until smooth; gradually beat in gelatin mixture. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.

In medium bowl, beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar and beat until stiff. Fold into cheese mixture. Reserve 1 cup cheese mixture. To remaining mixture, fold in pumpkin mixed with spices. Turn 1/2 pumpkin mixture into pastry shell; spread on reserved cheese mixture and top with remaining pumpkin mixture. Chill until firm. Makes about 8 servings.

Tasteful Gifts From The Heart

Anyone who has partaken in the holiday pursuit of the perfect present knows how quickly the spirit of the season can sour. After hours of crowd dodging, even the most benevolent shoppers can turn ugly before their gift lists have been licked. One simple "shop at home" solution is to make your own gifts. Who wouldn't be grateful for a gift of home-made goodies? Rich, chocolate caramel Tavern Turtles are deliciously simple to make. Tavern Nut Crunch, with raisins, bran, rice and wheat squares, is a fitting way to convey your wishes for a healthy New Year. Planters Tavern Nuts are the irresistible ingredient in both treats. These lightly sugared peanuts are great anytime snacks, so resolve to keep plenty on hand throughout the calendar year.

A festive way to wrap up your mouth-watering efforts is to create a gift within a gift. Save Planters reclosable cans. Decorate with unusual paper, paint or decoupage them for a lasting, loving impression. Voila! The perfect gift—filled with love, certain to be savored and bringing joy to the giver as well as the recipient. What a heartwarming way to keep the spirit of the season sweet.

TAVERN TURTLES

Flatten slightly. Spoon about 1/2 teaspoon melted chocolate over each nut cluster. Refrigerate 10-15 minutes, or until chocolate is set.

TAVERN NUT CRUNCH

Spread mixture on a large, ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 350°F. for 10 minutes. Remove and cool. Store in an airtight container.

History's Greatest Gifts

Hundreds of years ago, when a Persian emperor received a potato, he thought it was one of the greatest gifts ever given him. Persia was then suffering a famine, and from one potato enough seed potatoes could be grown to feed the entire nation. No wonder the emperor was impressed.

King Nebuchadnezzar created one of the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World—the Hanging Gardens of Babylon—as a gift for his bride who longed to recapture the beauty of the green hills of her former home. The King, the bride, and the gardens live on in man's memory.

Another well-known lover who set a shining example was Napoleon: he gave Josephine a tiara blazing with 880 diamonds and moved nations for her.

One gift that many people today are finding is always appreciated is a 110 camera. Even people who already own full-sized cameras like 110 cameras for their great convenience. The versatile Minolta 110 Zoom SLR MARK II offers a zoom lens ranging from normal to telephoto along with automatic exposure and accessory automatic flash. This compact camera fits in the palm of your hand and produces high quality 110 photos and negatives that can be beautifully enlarged.

A hotel baron named George Boldt tried to recapture his youth by means of an unusual gift to his wife. He bought one of the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence River, then had it carved in the shape of a heart. He also built a castle similar to those on the German Rhine River where he had lived as a boy.

But good advice to gift-givers searching for a perfect present for a loved one is this from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "The only gift is a portion of thyself."

'Tis the season to be jolly...Celebrate!

Spirit of Christmas past is still present today

Christmas 1879. Snowflakes gently envelop cities, towns and glens across the continent in a deep, white blanket of snow. The scenery is reminiscent of the days of "Currier & Ives."

The hustle and bustle of Christmas preparation begin to the tune of side-walk Santas ringing their bells for the benefit of homeless immigrant families. Coachmen leading horse and buggies cordially escort shoppers from store to store, in the midst of crowded city streets.

Logs burn in living room fireplaces, warming the hands and toes of weary Christmas travelers who have come by way of train, horseback and foot to spend the holiday with family and friends.

The smell of pine fills rooms, a reminder of the search in the woods for an evergreen bigger and grander than that of the year before.

As grandmothers reveal their secret recipes for creating perfect gingerbread men and 'chuck-full-of-chocolate chip' cookies, wide-eyed children observe, awaiting the chance to sneak a drop of sweet tasting batter.

100 years later and the scenes appear quite different from those of "old-fashioned" Christmases of long ago.

Reflecting modern technology and changing ideologies, today's holiday season is marked with new and changing symbols and traditions.

Coast to coast

The customs and tokens that say "Merry Christmas" appear on television, over the radio, and in newspapers and magazines. Santa Claus is now a universal symbol.

No body of land or water prevents the world wide exchange of greetings of "Joyeux Noël," "Feliz Navidad," and "Buon Natale," as Christmas cheer is spread via satellite.

Closer to home, Christmas ornaments of plastic, aluminum and other metals adorn windows, doors, roofs and landscapes. Twinkling multi-colored electric lights augment the shimmering glow of a clear winter's night.

AN OUTSTANDING WHITE WINE can add a regal touch to seasonal and holiday roast chicken dining. Biscuits, chicken, peas and sliced apple make a delightful, easily made meal that can stand with either a formal or informal setting when supported by a special white wine, such as the Langenbach Crown of Crowns Liebfraumilch, which adds that "something extra" that such an occasion deserves. One of the finest products of the Rhine Valley of West Germany, Langenbach Crown of Crowns wines are imported by Shaw-Ross Importers, Inc., of Miami, Fla.

Holiday smiles and surprises

NO MATTER WHERE they hang the stockings—fireplace, Franklin stove or even over the television—holiday pictures are fun to look at all year long. The pocket-size Kodak Ektralite 30 camera makes picture-taking easier than ever because of its built-in flash and automatic exposure control.

Preschool toys that stimulate

Children form most of their impressions of the world within the first few years of their lives, through contact with people around them, and by experimentation and discovery through play with toys.

So, it is important to choose preschool toys that will stimulate creativity as well as reinforce fundamental skills.

Even the simplest pull toy helps toddlers to increase coordination and self-confidence, since they control the movement. Basic activity toys will also develop manipulative skills as little fingers "play and learn."

For example, Baby Elephant, from Kusan, has three storage drawers in its side that youngsters can open only by matching up the color and shape-coded keys.

So, not only do children learn the coordination involved in manipulating a key in a lock, but they also learn to identify colors and shapes.

Realistic toys act as scaled-down versions of objects in the adult world, familiarizing children with grown-up life, and giving them a sense of mastery over objects within their grasp.

"Chunky" Trucks, designed by Kusan especially for preschoolers, are ideal as baby's first truck because they are made of safe, durable plastic, with removable drivers just the right size for little hands to grasp.
